

Relationship breakdown housing advice (non-violent)

Housing rights in a relationship breakdown can be complicated and you may need to seek legal advice. If you have a joint tenancy or own a property with your ex-partner you may still have rights to occupy the place you are living in together.

Find a legal advisor in your area: <https://find-legal-advice.justice.gov.uk>

Where else can I go for housing help and advice?

There are several places you could visit:

Shelter has produced a guide for people who have experienced a relationship breakdown and what their housing rights are after splitting up.

Shelter can also be contacted by telephone: 0808 301 4979

Citizens Advice Bureau - for general and legal advice and help (<https://www.citizensadvice.org.uk/>) telephone: 01284 753675.

If you've decided that you need to find a new home, our website has information helping you with the different options for Looking for a new home.

Further help

Please contact the Housing Options Team on 01284 763233 or visit www.westsuffolk.gov.uk/housing